

L. W. CHOBE CAUGHT

QUARANTINE OFFICER CONTRACTS INFLUENZA AND HAS TO BE PLACARDED

L. W. Chobe who, as Sanitary Inspector, has been very busy receiving reports of influenza cases and posting blue quarantine placards has been "hoist on his own petard." Saturday morning he took to his bed with the disease and Mrs. Chobe had to perform the office of posting the blue notice. He is not very sick and his friends are therefore not alarmed, but he will probably not be able to return to his duties in the City Hall for two weeks. During that time they will be divided among other employes unless there should be such a change for the worse in the influenza situation that the entire time of an official would be required.

At the office of Dr. Eckles, City Health Officer, the statement was made that the present situation appeared to be favorable and the doctor hoped he would be able to lift the quarantine on the public schools so they could open next Monday. The new cases reported at the City Hall for Sunday and Monday totaled fifteen.

Because of the weather the emergency hospital which is being constructed on the campus of the Glendale Sanitarium is not going forward quite as rapidly as expected. It will probably not be completed before the last of the week. Meanwhile patients are being cared for at the hospital established by the city in Fire Station No. 2 on Brand and Los Feliz Road. Five are now there, three of whom will be discharged today or tomorrow.

YELLOW LUNCHEON

Mrs. W. E. Grigg of 540 Fairmont Avenue entertained at luncheon and for the afternoon on Monday, Mrs. Costello and her daughter, Miss Marguerite Costello, of Denver. The two ladies are spending the winter in Southern California and are old friends of Mrs. Grigg, who knew them in Denver. They came to this coast from New York City, making the transcontinental trip in an auto with Miss Costello at the wheel. They are so charmed with the country, and particularly with Glendale, that they may decide to transfer their residence to this city. In honor of the occasion the hostess had provided a beautiful luncheon table centered with California poppies the other appointments harmonizing with the yellow color note. Covers were laid for the guests of honor, for Mrs. Thorn, mother of the hostess, Mrs. William Grigg and for the hostess.

OHIO REUNION

The annual Ohio State reunion will be held Saturday, March 13th, in Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles, to which all former residents and tourists of the Buckeye State, now in Southern California, are welcome. There will be the usual basket lunch at noon and a brief program at 2 p. m.

SECOND UNIT OF FOREST LAWN MAUSOLEUM

BUSINESS GROWS

H. A. WILSON ADDS NEW BUSES TO PASADENA-OCEAN PARK LINE

H. A. Wilson is one Glendale man whose far-sightedness has proved true. Mr. Wilson saw the need of direct transportation facilities between Glendale and Pasadena and between Glendale and the Beach. In September of last year he purchased two large passenger buses and began making regular trips between Pasadena and Ocean Park via Glendale and Hollywood. There was such a demand for transportation facilities between these cities and his patronage increased so rapidly that he has had to add two additional buses and will begin March 4 to give hourly service going west from Glendale 25 minutes after each hour beginning at 7:25 a. m. and continuing until 9:25 p. m.; and going east 15 minutes after each hour and continuing until 9:15 p. m. The fare to the beaches has been reduced to 40 cents each way.

IMLER-FLANAGAN

LIEUT. EUGENE IMLER RETURNS TO GOVERNMENT POSITION BRINGING BRIDE

The many friends of Lieut. Eugene Imler will be surprised to learn of his return to Glendale last Friday evening accompanied by a bride who was warmly welcomed by his mother, Mrs. Adelaide Imler, and his aunt, Miss Cora Hickman, at the family home, 336 West Park Avenue.

The marriage took place February 22 at the home of the bride, Miss Florence Flanagan, the second daughter of E. G. Flanagan, a prominent banker and business man of Marshfield, Oregon. It was a quiet home wedding at which Rev. Claud Black, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, officiated, only members of the family and other relatives being present. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Imler left for San Francisco, where they were entertained by the bride's cousin, Miss Mullen, who like the bride herself, is a cousin of Senator Phelan. They also visited the groom's sister, Miss Marjorie Imler, who is a student at the State University at Berkeley.

Their engagement was known and approved by relatives on both sides and they had expected to defer their marriage until June, but when the lieutenant recently received an ap-

BOYS EAGER TO AID STARVING ARMENIAN CHILDREN

Rev. Willisford tells of a little boy who heard Rev. Tahmian, the Armenian preacher, Sunday morning and insisted after he got home that his mother empty his bank and give all his pennies for the poor starving children. The amount was 87 cents, and the little fellow gave it gladly. Another boy, who had but a small sum to give at the service afterward, brought Rev. Willisford $1.50 to swell the fund. Many High School boys gave generously, and the banks report $5 and $10 contributions left with them to be turned over to the committee.

NEW GLENDALE HOSPITAL

The new hospital that is projected for the Piedmont Park section of the city is to be known as the Glendale Research Hospital. While no stock can be sold until the new name can be legally confirmed, which will be on March 19, those having the matter in charge seem much encouraged with the interest taken by most of those with whom it has been discussed. The architect's plans for the buildings are now being displayed in C. W. Kent & Son's window.

HELP GLENDALE

MEMBERSHIP IN DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION OPEN TO ALL

The Greater Glendale Development Association is open to any one who has a desire to help in the various projects that are on foot for the good of the city. One of these is the establishment of an Industrial District which Chairman Roy L. Kent and his committee have brought to a point where the city trustees have passed an ordinance establishing such a district. Another is the opening and widening of W. Broadway to San Fernando Road, and J. G. Huntley and a committee are working for this with the help of other members of the association. Other important matters are brought up from time to time, at the regular meetings and at the monthly get-together banquets which are held at the White Inn on the first Friday evening of each month. Twenty-five members have pledged their support to these dinners and many others who were not present at the first one have expressed a desire to attend the dinner Friday of this week and others which will follow. There is no membership fee in this association and the tickets to the monthly dinners are only seventy-five cents. J. G. Huntley is in charge of the dinners and C. D. Luby at the Glendale Savings Bank or Chas. W. Kent and Son at 131 S. Brand Blvd. can make reservations for any one who cares to attend.

T. L. Totman, manager of the Acme Grocery Store, is moving into the property he bought about a month ago of T. O. Anderson at 510 North Central. It is a new house of five rooms and Mr. Totman has added a large sun room.

REHABILITATION OF RAILROADS

RETURN TO OWNERS BRINGS MANY ORDERS FOR NEW ENGINES ON LEADING LINES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

NEW YORK, March 2.—The American Locomotive Company announced today that it has taken orders from the Boston & Maine Railroad for twenty new engines, and the Lima Locomotive Works reports contracts for fifty engines from the M. K. & T. Ry., and thirty from the Union Pacific.

COLLAPSE OF FRENCH RAILWAY STRIKE

ITS FAILURE SAID TO BE DUE TO PUBLIC OPINION AS A DYNAMIC FORCE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, March 2.—Political observers see in the collapse of the French railway strike a victory for public opinion, which, it is said, has become a really dynamic force in France only since the war. The strike ended when the federation of railway men ordered the strikers to resume work immediately.

The formal announcement by strike leaders said that the strike had been ended through the intervention of Premier Millerand. When civil and patriotic organizations with a membership far larger than the strikers' unions volunteered their services, the success of the strike was doomed, these observers said. The majority of the men are expected to return to work immediately.

'FRISCO AS GREAT NAVAL BASE

PLANS OF NAVY BOARD CALL FOR ULTIMATE EXPENDITURES THERE OF $70,000,000

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, March 2.—San Francisco is considered by the general Navy Board as the logical place for a great naval base on the Pacific, Rear Admiral Badger told the House Naval Affairs Committee today.

The cost of the base desired by the Navy Board would be approximately $70,000,000. An estimate has been submitted to the committee which calls for an expenditure of $10,000,000 in 1921. The plans also call for the enlargement of the navy yard at Mare Island and the establishment of torpedo and submarine bases at other points along the coast.

DAYLIGHT SAVING IN CALIFORNIA

STATE OFFICIALS MAY ACT IF CONGRESS DOES NOT RELIEVE POWER AND WATER SHORTAGE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SACRAMENTO, March 2.—State authorities may adopt daylight saving as a measure of power economy, Governor Stephens declared in a statement to the United Press today.

"I have always believed in daylight saving for the summer months," the governor said, "and would strongly indorse legislation by Congress toward that end. If Congress does not act, possibly such action may be taken by local authorities in California to relieve the burden imposed by the water and power shortage."

ANTI-PROHIBITION IN NEW JERSEY

GOV. EDWARDS SIGNS BILL TO ENABLE STATE TO BRING ACTION IN SUPREME COURT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

TRENTON, March 2.—Governor Edwards, the "wet" candidate for the presidency, shortly after noon today signed the bill passed by the New Jersey legislature to allow the manufacture and sale of beverages containing three and one-half per cent alcohol. The law does not become operative until "the termination of a state of war."

The pen used by the governor will be presented to The Personal Liberty League, an organization which has been started in New York. The purpose of the law is to enable New Jersey to bring an action in the United States Supreme Court to test the validity of the national prohibition amendment.

STEAMER IN TROUBLE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

MOBILE, Ala., March 2.—S. O. S. calls were sent out by the steamer Moose Hausie bound from London to Mobile according to information reaching here today. The message said that the propeller blades were broken and the vessel was in a helpless condition off the Azore Islands.

FIRE VICTIMS IN WALLA WALLA

WALLA WALLA, Wash., March 2.—Ruins of the "Chop House Club" building in the Chinese quarter were being searched today for further victims of the fire which burned to death eleven Chinese last night. The fire started when a Chinaman dropped a bunch of lighted fire crackers during a new year celebration.

JUDGE WELLS SPEAKS

DELIVERS INTERESTING ADDRESS ON ARMENIA AND NEAR EAST RELIEF

Owing to the heavy rain last night the attendance at the High School auditorium was very small but Judge H. N. Wells delivered his entire address, notwithstanding. It was a very clear presentation of the terrible situation in the Near East and was made plainer by many stereoscopic views. The speaker told how for more than 700 years, ever since the last great Tartar invasion that was staged at the very gates of Vienna, Armenia has stood as a wall of adamant between Islam and Christianity. Stretching from the Black Sea to the Mediterranean, Armenia has been the buffer that the Mohammedan hordes recoiled from again and again. The Armenians are superb fighters, said the speaker, and during the earlier years of the war their little force of 200,000 men, poorly armed and equipped, threw back, time after time, the mighty array of Moslems, supplied with modern arms and equipment, who sought to break through and join their German allies, after defeating the British army along the Dardanelles and in Mesopotamia. But since that time more than two million Armenians have been massacred and the small remnant of this people, who gave their lives rather than renounce their Christianity, is now fast dwindling away beneath the successive attacks of the brutal Turk. The finest of Russia's generals were Armenians, said the speaker, and in every army of the Allies were many Armenian volunteers. (Continued on Page 5)

ARRIVE FROM WASHINGTON, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Ford of 215 North Adams Street are rejoicing in the arrival of friends from Washington, D. C., Dr. and Mrs. D. H. Woolgar, and their son, who is attending Loma Linda Medical School in Los Angeles. In anticipation of their coming, Mr. and Mrs. Ford engaged quarters for them in advance at 745 East Wilson Avenue, where they now are. Dr. Woolgar is a practicing dentist. He and Mrs. Woolgar like Glendale so much it is possible they may decide to locate here permanently. The Fords will, of course, do all they can to encourage such a decision.

ELKS' ELECTION

TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY PARTICIPATE IN BALLOTING FOR OFFICERS

Last evening was a big night for B. P. O. E. Lodge 1289. There were about two hundred fifty members present to participate in the election of officers for the ensuing year. The orchestra furnished music and everybody was out for a good time. Harry E. White was installed into the office of trustee to fill the unexpired term of Dr. J. L. Flint who had resigned.

The officers elected were: John H. Fanset, Exalted Ruler. A. F. Priest, Esteemed Leading Knight. A. H. Dibbern, Esteemed Loyal Knight. James Appfel, Esteemed Lecturing Knight. C. E. McPeck, Tiler. Irving H. Oliver, Trustee for three years.

Charles J. Letts, Secretary. H. Nelson, Treasurer. Cameron D. Thom, Delegate to Grand Lodge.

Peter L. Ferry, Alternate Delegate.

Cameron D. Thom, retiring Exalted Ruler, deserves great credit for the success and growth of the Elks' Lodge the past year, the total membership now being more than 1200. Glendale B. P. O. E. 1289 has a reputation throughout the country as being one of the most wide-awake Elks lodges in existence.

KENTUCKY COUPLE VISITING GLENDALE RELATIVES

J. B. Eberlein and wife have come from London, Ky., to find a home in Southern California and while looking around for the most pleasing location, are visiting among relatives in Glendale and Los Angeles. Mrs. Eberlein is a sister of Robert M. and John H. Jackson. Her husband was in the undertaking business in London for a number of years but recently sold all his property there in contemplation of moving to the coast. He expects to engage in some kind of business out here but will not be in a hurry about it, he says. Both Mr. and Mrs. Eberlein are very much in love with Glendale and they hope to be able to locate in this city.

CITY THOROUGHFARES

WEED CUTTING AND TREE PLANTING WILL CONTINUE FOR FEW WEEKS

Street Foreman Nelson has been traversing the sidewalks of the city and cutting weeds in the parkways so they will not encroach on the sidewalks and annoy pedestrians.

The Forestry Department of the city is arranging for the planting of about fifteen hundred trees in the Verdugo Canyon district by the company having that subdivision in charge. The company has arranged to purchase from the city about one thousand trees, and the city will donate five hundred. They will be planted under the supervision of City Forester Marek and his assistants, but the company will pay the expense of planting. This will complete the tree planting work of the city for the season and will bring the number of trees planted to 4000. This work in Verdugo Canyon will probably consume two or three weeks as it is more difficult than planting in valley situations.

The streets in all sections of the city that have been subdivided are now pretty well set to trees except in the Grand View District recently annexed. That will receive attention too, but the actual work will probably be postponed until next year, officials say.

SHAKESPEARE CLUB

The Shakespeare Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club was entertained Monday afternoon at the home of the curator, Mrs. E. D. Yard. The hardest shower of the afternoon fell about the time the members should have been starting for their rendezvous and the attendance for that reason was considerably reduced. Enough, however, were there to form a good class and the second act of King Lear was studied.

The instructor, Mrs. McClure, invited the section to be her guests the latter part of the month. Plans were discussed for the club house benefit which the section is to give and a decision was reached to have it take place on the birthday of Shakespeare in April. At that time members of the Galpin Shakespeare Club of Los Angeles will give a program.

RAINFALL FOR STORM 1.87—SEASON 11.90 INCHES

Last night's rain was the heaviest of the season for the time it lasted, amounting to 1.67 inches, according to T. W. Preston. This made the total for the storm beginning February 27 just 1.87 inches. For the season to date it is 11.90 inches. The record at this time last year was 9.48 inches. The rains of the last few days seem to have extended over the entire state.

CHAFFEE TAKES OVER ACME STORES

Managers T. L. Totman of the Acme Store and Robert Freeman of Chaffee's have been exceptionally busy men the past few days, taking complete inventories of stocks and fixtures of the two stores in order that the consolidation of the Chaffee and Acme corporations under the control of the former might be completed March 1. The two stores will still be conducted as heretofore, and this will probably be the permanent policy. Both managers are very popular.

COTTON ACREAGE

GLENDALE MEN INTERESTED IN COACHELLA VALLEY ACREAGE

L. W. Babcock of 413 North Isabel and Frank S. Mulford of 640 East Harvard, have associated themselves with Henry J. Stoner of Berkeley, Dean Stanley and Grover E. Clem of Rocky Ford, Colo., and this syndicate has bought 80 acres of Coachella Valley land, near the holdings of Harry L. Howe, T. D. Ogg and other Glendale citizens. This is raw land and the intention is to clear it at once of sage brush and other impediments, then drill a 200-ft. deep well for irrigation and drinking water. This latter is the difficult job, as every drilling outfit in the Southland is signed up months ahead for oil well drilling. They will have to get the land ready by June 1, Mr. Babcock says, if they get a cotton crop in this year, and this they are very anxious to do, as they are offered a contract for all the pima and long staple they can raise at a minimum of 64 (Continued on Page 6)

A WARNING TO TRANSPORTATION COMPANIES

In a recent decision in a personal injury case, the Appellate court of Cook county, Illinois, laid down a principle which commends itself to reason and equity which, if followed by other courts, will tend to prevent the reckless overcrowding of surface, elevated and subway cars in American cities.

The question presented to the court was this: "When a woman becomes a passenger on an uncrowded street car and obtains a seat, and when as the car is approaching her destination, the woman tries to work her way to the door, the car meantime having become so overcrowded that she cannot reach the door without being shoved, pushed, involuntarily carried along and thrust down the steps and out into the street, finally thrown down and injured, is the street car company liable for that injury?"

The Appellate court, Judge Taylor writing the opinion, answered the question in the affirmative—for the first time, it would appear, in the long history of personal injury litigation growing out of street car accidents. The company is liable, says the court, because "the habits of passengers are well known," because "if a car is crowded confusion and anxiety make them push and surge toward the exit," and because, if in the face of well known facts, street car companies accept too many passengers and suffer cars to become badly overcrowded, they must be held responsible for any accident or injury which results directly from the inevitable, foreseeable effects of such overcrowding.—Chicago News.

INCREASE PRODUCTION SAYS KROH

America is destined to become a nation of consumers instead of producers unless there comes a decided change in conditions, is the prediction of A. R. Kroh, a farming expert of national reputation, who is now touring the west.

"Agriculture, the Mother of Civilization" is the slogan upon which Kroh bases his appeal in behalf of the farmer. Before the Home Industry League at the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, he drew a gloomy picture, portraying dire consequences to the country unless migration to the cities ceases and the eyes of the people are turned to the fields.

Citing ancient Babylon and modern England and Italy as examples, the speaker points to their failures and mistakes as entirely due to their neglect of husbandry and greed for gold. Disaster in some form is inevitable, he declares, if the United States does not speed up in its foodstuff production. With an estimated population of 115,000,000 there are, according to his figures only 13,000,000 people actually tilling the soil. In 1860 there were 26,000,000 people living on farms and 5,000,000 made up the population of the cities and towns.

Help the farmer, urges Kroh. Increased production will solve the high cost problem. Ignore the call of the farmer and the result surely will be panic and disaster.

DIPLOMATIC MESSES

The problem of Fiume, so-called, affords an illuminating example of the possibilities of entanglement ensnared in European alliances. The President of the United States does not agree with Messrs. Lloyd-George and Millerand on the extent of Italy's rights in the eastern shore of the Adriatic, and now it seems that the representatives of France, Britain, and Italy had an agreement on this subject about which the President knew nothing at all. This incident shows just how seriously Europe took his famous declaration of "open covenants, openly arrived at." Whilst publicly applauding the Presidential utterance, the statesmen of the Old World were making secret arrangement to circumvent the President's proposals. Thus it was that the famous fourteen points were sent to the scrap-heap.

Another diplomatic mess is likely to develop from the Russian situation. Peace is to be made between our late associates and the Soviet government of what is left of Muscovy. At this distance, the thing looks like an impossibility, and the so-called "peace" will resemble that which has held sway in Mexico since our recognition of Senor Carranza. England and Italy have at least this much of an excuse, however; their exchequers will not stand for any more warfare. Americans have developed a disinclination to put up the cash for doubtful military adventures in dark places. So Mr. Lloyd-George has perforce decided for peace.—The Tidings.

AUTO-INTOXICATION

Fruit stands are to be established along the boulevards of Southern California allee santee oil stations, according to a report, in order to provide a safety valve for the thirsty autoists who may long for the happy days of booze, as they gallivant along the highways. Some bright idea, say we. If the dust clogs up your throat in a threatening manner, don't worry about prohibition; just stop at a highway fruit stand and suck a navel orange. Or if you feel a craving for a real jag, inhale a couple of water melons, a pound of raisins, and a sugar beet. The combination will evolve an interior kick that will be equal to any home brew ever devised. A cocoanut carried in the back seat of a Ford for an hour will make a fine milk-shake. For an imitation forty-rod, put your foot on the running board, in the absence of a foot rail and eat a half peck of apples and a two-bit sack of rock candy. In twenty minutes you will be fully as uncomfortable as any 2.75 per cent could ever make you. A dandy near beer can be made from hops. Take three hops from your auto to the door of the fruit stand, added to the foam from the epileptic fit you will have when you find there is nothing stronger than fruit on sale there. If you want more than one jag, take a pear. Rocky Fords can be used as chasers. Nothing better than green apples to get tight on. For a genuine stew, try prunes. If intoxicated by a peach, remember you cantaloupe. To sleep off the effects of one of the fruit-stands you use apri-cots. Even the gasoline will get tanked occasionally when the new fruit stands get to going.

Typewriters seem to be coming down, at least in Los Angeles. One fell from an airplane sailing over Los Angeles the other day and nearly hit a man walking along the street. Perhaps it was from some friend aloft who wished to drop him a few lines.

The good rain of last week should not all be credited to the Iowa picnic scheduled for Washington's birthday. Part of the credit should go to the weather bureau which predicted fair weather. The combination invariably precipitates a precipitation.

An old gentleman up north figured confidently that he would live to be 100 years old, but he slipped on the ice at the age of 89 years and lost out on the last 11 years. He said he didn't mind dying, but he hated to be cut off in his youth that way.

Cotton is to be grown and ginned and perhaps made into cloth at the state hospital for the insane at Patton, it is reported. That's more sanity than many other places in the state can show.

An Anaheim auto dealer who had his overcoat stolen from his car offers to give the thief a hat and a pair of shoes if he will call for them, and he says the offer has no tricks or qualifications to it. This is turning the other cheek with a vengeance. His intention evidently is to make the thief ashamed of himself so he will return the coat. On the same theory, if the thief had stolen his auto instead of merely his overcoat, he would probably have offered him his garage and a couple of two-ton trucks, just to humiliate the fellow.

A stray gent was arrested at Pasadena the other day, chewing pebbles which he picked up along the railroad track. He couldn't explain just what nourishment he got from them, and expressed a preference for being sent to the rock pile when arrested, but the judge thought he needed mental exercise worse, and sent him to the psychopathic ward in the county hospital.

The Los Angeles chief of police asks for more men on his force, arguing that the city has far more square miles than any other city with the same number of policemen. One way to remedy the preponderance of square miles over cops would be for Los Angeles to quit trying to gobble every nearby town and valley that looked as if it might have some taxable value. All the adjacent towns yet ungobbled would be glad to help her in this way to avoid a further discrepancy between her police force and her area.

Afternoon luncheons are not properly described in society columns, it seems, unless the ladies are named who "pour," if they have coffee or tea. Why not also name the ones who "cut," if they have cake and the ones who "spoon," if they have ice cream or young men present.

A Chicago woman writes to the Tribune that fourteen years ago her husband came to California on a trip, and he has never returned to her. The suspicion is slowly forming in her mind that he has left her. If she allows such thoughts to gain a foothold, before another fourteen years are up she is likely to become almost convinced of it.

A Berkeley student who is in jail for speeding, is spending his time writing poetry. He doubtless uses only short sentences, as an example to the Judge.

A BEAUTIFUL LIFE

LOVING TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF
MRS. MARY M. WINSLOW
WHO DIED FEB. 25

The following tribute to Mrs. Mary M. Winslow, mother of Mrs. Edgar Leavitt, of 212 South Orange street, will be appreciated by the many friends of deceased whose life will always be a beautiful memory. She passed away February 25th, 1920, at the home of her daughter, and was buried February 28th:

Saturday afternoon, February 28, as the day closed, all that was mortal of Mrs. Mary Winslow, was carried from her late home.

After these last five years of suffering, borne with unflinching patience, death came most peacefully.

Always hopeful, courageous, cheerful, inspiring in her home, her influence did not end there. Those who knew her, know how many hearts and homes have been cheered and brightened by her kindness and generosity.

Mrs. Winslow was a devoted mother, finding her greatest happiness in planning and providing for the comfort of her family.

Time had dealt very kindly with this noble woman these ninety years, for while she was unable to go about much toward the end, she was in complete possession of all her faculties to the last moment of her earthly existence.

She was a member of the Tuesday Afternoon Club of Glendale, and in its growth and progress, as in all questions of the day, even in the little affairs of domestic detail, her interest was more than ordinary.

As the shadows of life lengthened, she watched them grow and deepen, not fearing to go, not longing to go, but her faith in her Lord, her love of His Word making her ready and willing when He called her.

Many last talks did her devoted son and daughter have with this Mother in Israel. And in the last sad rites, it was their privilege to carry out many expressed desires.

One of these was most beautiful—that as she lay with the drapings of her last couch about her, there be placed with her a full blown white rose, and a white rose bud, the rose representing the completeness of the life she had left, the bud typifying her entrance into the new existence.

As she lay thus, and surrounded by banks of flowers expressing love and esteem of her friends, death had no part in it, for her life continues a beautiful benediction to all who knew her.

In her early married life, it was the privilege of Mrs. Winslow to assist her husband in establishing a Union Sunday school at Ft. Atkinson, Wis., out of which the ultimate growth was a Universalist Church. From that time forward they were identified with that denomination grown at home and elsewhere.

When in after years, and her husband had passed beyond, a call came to her beloved son-in-law, the Rev. Edgar Leavitt, and his wife, her daughter, to go to Japan as missionaries of the Universalist belief, upon their solicitation she accompanied them. During their five years' sojourn in that country she, too, was active in the work of the mission. And it was soon an established custom of the unmarried man or woman, that to this dear Christian mother were carried all their joys and sorrows, and to her were given their confidences, and from her they sought advice.

After the return to America, her Christian work continued wherever their lot fell, and coming to Glendale 19 years ago, she was soon identified with all the good works of the town and community.

One of her last requests was that the services subsequent to her passing over be brief and marked with simplicity, and conducted by her pastor, Rev. Nash of the Universalist Church of Los Angeles.

A beautiful manifestation of love toward her was that the bearing of the casket was assumed by her son, William Winslow of Glendale, a nephew, Leonard Needham of Norfolk, Neb., another nephew, William Winslow of Detroit, Mich., and a nephew by marriage, Frank Ayars of Glendale.

Cheerfulness was the keynote of her life. And as she lay in her last beautiful sleep, it was a comfort to the bereaved son and daughter who had sought unceasingly to alleviate her distress to know that Love came, Pain went, and that her sufferings were to be no more forever.

Serene, I fold my hands and wait,
Nor care for wind, nor tide, nor sea;
I raise no more 'gainst time or fate,
For lo! my own shall come to me.

The stars come nightly to the sky;
The tidal wave unto the sea;
Nor time, nor space, nor deep, nor high,
Can keep my own away from me.

A Friend.

SATURDAY SERVICES

ELDERS SNYDER, GATES AND
FORD PRESENT IMPORTANT QUESTIONS TO PEOPLE

The new Seventh-day Adventist Church auditorium, corner Isabel and California streets was comfortably filled Saturday by the regular audience supplemented by visiting friends from neighboring towns.

The Sabbath school exercises were enlivened by short, descriptive talks on the customs and habits of the people of Africa, together with their needs. These talks, which were given by three young girls, helped to stimulate and maintain interest in the offerings for the African field. From the kindergarten up to the seniors, all are taught to work and save for missions.

At the regular preaching service which followed at eleven o'clock, Elder George A. Snyder, visiting pastor from Los Angeles, gave the principal address, assisted by Elder E. H. Gates, retired missionary from the Pitcairn Islands. I. A. Ford, resident presiding elder, gave a brief but comprehensive and appealing talk on the Near East Relief work which is to be carried out by all churches within the present week. A special offering was given.

The thought embodied in the symposium was the principle which runs like a golden thread through that document of documents, the Constitution of the United States, America's forefathers having suffered and sacrificed to make liberty of conscience secure for their posterity, and it being the duty of the present generation to safeguard and preserve this right and privilege which some would unwittingly destroy.

Elder Gates called attention to the danger of uniting religion and politics, the church with the state, and said pressure to secure religious laws will bring a great crisis upon the world. He said large sums of money are being spent to create sentiment favorable to such laws, and that some are even sending memorials to Congress urging their enactment. But these laws, he said, will cause serious trouble.

Elder Snyder told of conditions at Redondo Beach, where a good citizen, a merchant of that place, not a Seventh-day Adventist, was recently arrested and charged with violating a Sunday closing ordinance. He showed that this ordinance had worked a hardship and an injustice upon this individual.

AN INCOME TAX WITHOUT EXEMPTION

Congressman Luce has figured that federal taxes for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, will amount to $550 for every family in the United States. Income taxes, and the rest of the category of federal assessments, internal and customs, will be collected in the usual manner. Millions of families will not be visited, nor receive any direct communication from the federal tax collector. Income tax returns will be made and taxes paid directly by comparatively few out of the hundred and more million people in the United States.

Yet it is to be borne in mind that the federal revenue receipts are a tax on the national income, in whatever form, or in whatever part, they may be assessed, and that, however paid to the tax collector, sooner or later they are collected from the whole population, without exemption. The congressman is misleading in suggesting the amount of the tax burden on each family, but the underlying truth that every family bears a part of the general burden, which increases or decreases with the extravagance or economy that may mark legislation at Washington, needs to be recognized.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

HIGHWAY ALONG ARROYO SECO

Motorists of Glendale and surrounding communities are interested in a proposed new auto road up the Arroyo Seco, between Avenues 26 and 35, which would afford a highway connection, with many scenic features, from San Fernando Road via North Broadway and Avenue 26 as far north as South Pasadena. A rock and gravel company of Los Angeles has offered to deed to the city a strip of 50 feet wide, or more if necessary, along the east side of the Arroyo for this purpose. This company offers in addition to furnish all materials except cement and do all the work of building retaining walls on both sides of the Arroyo for the distance mentioned. This boulevard has long been talked of and the prospects for its building are now considered very bright.

PRE-WAR HIGHWAY PLAN REVIVED

It is announced that a number of leading citizens of Pasadena, Eagle Rock and Los Angeles are striving to revive a pre-war plan for a new scenic boulevard from Pasadena to the big city over the Colorado St. bridge out through Eagle Rock as far as Interurban Avenue, thence on that street to Verdugo Road and then on to San Fernando Road. It would be necessary to go west from the junction of Verdugo and San Fernando Roads to Brand Boulevard, thence south across Ivanhoe bridge and down to Lake Shore Avenue and thence to Figueroa St. The plan contemplates a broad boulevard, lined on both sides with trees and flowers.

Bentley-Built Homes Are Attractive

Bentley's Building Plan Is Attractive, Too

It would be hard to find a better proposition than we can give the family that wants a home—a new home, built according to its tastes and needs—a family who hasn't all the money necessary to build a home.

We have on file in our office hundreds of plans for homes, from the smallest bungalow to the larger and more pretentious homes. The most particular of women can find here, even among the plans for the smaller houses something that will just suit her. Every woman plans the arrangement of a new house she is going to build "some day,"—a house in which the rooms will be arranged so that the business of housekeeping can be carried on with the minimum of labor, a house in which there will be plenty of closet space and windows where she wants them.

Hasn't your wife lived in an old house long enough? Doesn't she deserve a new home, conveniently arranged and easy to keep clean?

Don't say you can't afford it until you have asked us about

COUNTY FLOOD CONTROL

The comprehensive flood control project of Los Angeles county, of which Glendale's Verdugo Wash is a considerable part, is rapidly nearing completion, Chief Engineer J. W. Reagan announces. The hemming in of the Los Angeles river at Vernon, where long levees have been built, and the dredging of a new channel to the north and northwest of Long Beach to take care of the storm waters of the same river, are two of the largest contracts undertaken. The work at Vernon is about completed and that at Long Beach is far enough along to care for any possible floods this season and will not be resumed until after March 15. The dredging of this new mouth of the Los Angeles River, to a width of 700 feet, and the protection work which accompanies it makes possible again the connecting of the Long Beach and Los Angeles harbors with a wide channel 30 feet deep.

NATION-WIDE BUILDING

In 193 cities of the U. S. building permits issued in January, 1919, totaled 12,846, with a valuation of $21,732,529. In January, 1920, there were 20,325 permits issued and the total valuation was $117,747,293, a gain of 440 per cent. New York led this year with over $23,000,000 in permits and Chicago was next with nearly $8,000,000. Los Angeles was sixth with $4,186,266, and Long Beach twentieth with $1,271,820. This latter city, with only 60,000 population had more than St. Louis with close to a million and Washington, D. C., with nearly half a million. It has by far the largest amount in proportion to population of any city in the United States. Glendale's permits total considerably more in proportion to population than most of the large cities of the nation.

TWO GLENDALES OF A KIND

Glendale, Arizona, is following the example of Glendale, Cal., in voting on bonds for High School building improvements. The announcement is that the trustees of the Glendale Union High School, Arizona, have decided to submit a bond issue of $200,000 for a new home economics building and four additional classrooms.

DRAWING THE DEAD LINE OF FREE SPEECH

Few people will take issue with Attorney General Palmer in his declaration that for the safeguarding of society and the general peace and order, there must be some limitation to the freedom of speech, a "dead-line" as he calls it. The necessity is recognized in a variety of laws which restricts the right of individuals to say what he pleases regardless of the rights of other individuals or of the community at large. All freedom under the laws of the United States is relative, rather than absolute.

Difference of opinion as to the legislation pending before congress regulating speech is as to where and how the dead-line shall be drawn, and although the attorney general and Congressman Graham appear to agree that it shall lie between orderly discussion and the doctrine of force and violence, they are unable to harmonize their ideas as to how the distinction shall be defined.

A manifesto of the Anarchist-Communists, against whom the activities of the department of justice have recently been directed, which has been in active circulation throughout the country, contains these paragraphs:

"Down with the State! Long live Anarchy!

"We must mercilessly destroy all remains of governmental authority and class domination, liberating the prisoners, demolish prisons and police offices, destroy all legal papers pertaining to private ownership of property; all field fences and boundaries, and burn all certificates of indebtedness; in a word, we must take care that everything is wiped from the earth that is a reminder of the right to private ownership; to blow up barracks, gendarme and police, administration, shoot the most prominent military and police officers, must be the important concern of the revolting people."

Can there be any question that the dead-line of uncontrolled speech must be drawn so that it will bar such utterances as that, which in thought and suggestion, if not in actual verbiage, are multiplied in the Communist propaganda? And if, in drawing the line against such speech, there is a possible chance that some less violent and possibly harmless agitation may be barred, is the danger of such restraint, even though it be unnecessary, less than the freedom which gives license to the firebrand?—Philadelphia Bulletin.

It is time that people were beginning to realize that the salvation of this country—as of all countries—must be worked out, not through legislation, but through individual effort. We have had enough of theories. The problem presented to us is one of extreme simplicity. What the world wants is goods, and there is no way to get them except through the application of capital and labor to natural resources. The laboring man who expects to be fed sees nothing wrong in the demand that the farmer shall work hard, and produce to the limit of his ability. The laboring man in one industry when he goes to buy goods made in another industry desires above everything else that those goods shall be plentiful and cheap. It is so all round the circle. The farmer asks that the city employes shall work and produce, and his demand is quite as reasonable as is the demand that the farmer work and produce.

It is notorious that production in this country is far below the country's capacity. That is one reason for the present exorbitant prices. There can be no relief till the cause for the evil is removed. No matter how many dollars a man may have, dollars will not buy bread unless some one bakes it, or clothes unless some one makes them. We make a great mistake in measuring wealth and prosperity in money—they should be measured in goods and commodities. With greater loyalty on the part of every American citizen to his work—which is only another name for loyalty to the community—there would be greater production, greater prosperity and a keener appreciation of it, and greater contentment and happiness.

The people of Europe are beginning to understand this, and are working as never before. It will not be long before we shall have to meet strong competition from abroad. The best citizen today is he who contributes most by his services, no matter in what capacity, to the general good. There is work for all and the question is whether it shall be honestly and faithfully done.—Long Beach Telegram.

The riot was composed of fully 1000 men, most of them of the lowest character, and they defied the authorities for two days. It was not until the third day that Sheriff Burns was enabled to secure a posse to put down the rioters. Among the 25 men who responded to his call for 100 and stayed with him till order was restored was Cameron Thom, father of our fellow townsman of the same name.

AN ONION HOARD

Here is a tale to weep at, told in the San Francisco Chronicle. A hoard of onions has been discovered reposing in a cold storage warehouse, its purpose apparently to afford profits to speculators rather than to furnish food to the onion-consuming public. According to the United States attorney who found this hidden treasure there are about 2650 sacks, or about 270,914 pounds of onions. They were placed in the warehouse last September, and the receipt for them has changed hands several times.

The onions were purchased in the days when that commodity sold for about $2.15 a sack, or about two cents a pound. Today the wholesale price varies from $4.50 to $5.25 for a hundred pound sack, and retailers are getting 25 cents for three pounds.

This single hoard of onions, is not the whole cause of the high cost of living. Neither is it proof of the existence of a great many similar hoards of onions and other foodstuffs. The public suspects the existence of far more such hoards than ever existed. It may have been a contributing cause of the high price of onions. At any rate, the United States attorney has asked the district court for authority to seize the lot.

The moral of the tale is simply that when such large-scale hoarding for speculative purposes is discovered, there is generally prompt official action to punish the offender and remedy the mischief. If the public will attend to its part in reducing the cost of living—buying wisely and thriftily and eliminating extravagance, officials will probably do theirs.

WASHINGTON'S SOUND ADVICE

One hundred and eighty-eight years ago the twenty-second of last month George Washington, the first President of the United States, was born at Bridges Creek, Westmoreland County, Virginia. During those long years, filled as they have been with the success, the struggles, and all those things which confront a nation young in the eyes of the world, Washington's name, character and influence have grown until they are almost as well established in the affairs of the nation as the Declaration of Independence or the Constitution.

During the recent long months of struggle, when the whole world was reeking with the bloodshed of mankind; when it seemed that peace had become a myth, it was the memory of such men as Washington which spurred our doughboys on to victory. As his memory and the memory of such men as Lincoln makes a thrill through the veins of every red-blooded American, so should the words of warning issued by George Washington when he left the presidential chair create the same thrill and pride in the fact that America is for America First, Last and Always. There can be no halfway mark, so far as European alliances are concerned. Let us remain good friends and stimulate our international trade but let us also remember Washington's words that we cannot mix politics with commercial ambitions so far as foreign nations are concerned.

THOSE HEALTHY GIRLS

Once more a respected member of the medical fraternity has risen to declare that the dress of the modern female does not render her unduly susceptible to disease. In his latest case it is a French doctor of note who champions the dress short at both ends. This doctor says that the more scanty covering of the body is an aid to its aeration, tends to a better functioning of the skin and acts as a stimulant to the nervous system.

As a matter of fact, the dress of the modern young woman probably has little to do with her health or lack of it. It is not a question of the dress but of the girl who wears it. The average young woman of today is a healthy young animal. She is healthy because she is active, athletic, interested in a thousand things which keep her mind off herself and leave her little time or inclination for illness.

Women may lack modesty in dress, but never in all history were so many of them interested in athletic and out-door sports, or familiar with the proper care of the body and the simple rules of diet.

The dress reformers will have to find some other platform than ill health upon which to stage their attack on modern feminine attire. The world is full of fine, strong, healthy girls in short skirts and low necks. If the morals of the world can't stand the low necks and the short skirts, it is the morals of the world which are unhealthy; the girls are all to the good.

The juicy rain that began last Wednesday night is credited by some to the target practice that day with the big guns on the war ships at San Pedro. But why deprive the Wednesday night prayer meeting at Pomona of its share of the credit, and the Iowa picnic scheduled for Saturday if it didn't rain?

Edward E. Quinch and wife, who recently sold their home at 718 East Harvard to Andrew McIntyre, are moving today to Riverside. Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre are moving in as the Quinches move out.

R. C. Goudie and family and R. C. Goudie, Jr., and wife have bought two acres of ground in Eagle Rock and moved to it, intending to go into the chicken business. Mr. Goudie Sr., has sold his place at 458 West Maple.

Albert Thompson, chief clerk of the insurance department of the Automobile Club of Southern California has moved to Glendale from Hollywood, occupying the property at 462 West Maple that he purchased from Mrs. Sweet.

Bert Heinmiller of Yankton, S. D., is visiting his father, J. H. Heinmiller, at 1104 East Wilson Avenue, and his sister, Mrs. O. E. Frank, at 1134 East Harvard Street. He had planned to return to Yankton in about a month but may change his plan and locate here permanently.

Miss Lucile Sparks, teacher in the Glendale city schools, who makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Yard on North Maryland Avenue, has quite recovered from influenza and been released from quarantine. She will spend the balance of the week at the home of her parents in Sierra Madre.

R. A. Lynn, wife and son, Leslie, visited relatives in Glendale Sunday, driving up in their machine. They report that Long Beach has the same high school problem that Glendale has. The buildings were designed to accommodate 1100 pupils and more than 2500 are enrolled. A new unit will have to be built soon.

Miss Geraldine Woolard and her brother, Gaylord, have returned from San Bernardino where they visited their brother, E. L. Rice. He brought them home by auto, the party including his daughters, Gladys and Loeda Rice—all of whom were Sunday guests in the home of S. W. Fenton at 606 West Vine St.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fisel and family of West Park Avenue expect to leave in about two weeks for Fresno to go onto a thirty-acre alfalfa ranch they own there where they will raise cattle, hogs and other farm products. They are enthusiastic over the prospective change and say that Fresno is a very prosperous farming region.

Mr. and Mrs. James Farrell who moved from East Broadway to 400 West Patterson Avenue have found plenty of things with which to busy themselves in the improvement of their new home, which is considerably larger in site than the old one, the lot measuring 92 by 167 feet. They have changed their minds about going into the chicken business extensively and will merely raise enough for their own table. An excellent incubator hatched Rhode Island Red chicks came off Sunday. They like their new location and say it is building up very fast in that locality.

H. E. Betz is commencing a five-room bungalow at 108 E. Acacia Avenue to cost $3500.

Miss Elizabeth Allen is back at work in the City Hall after an absence of three weeks caused by an attack of influenza.

Miss Muriel Theobald of 312 W. Acacia Avenue, library assistant, was able to be at work again last Saturday after an enforced absence on account of an attack of influenza.

While Glendale's minimum water rate has been lowered to 75 cents for the first 700 cubic feet, Los Angeles is considering a raise of from 14 to 50 per cent, which the head of the water department says must come very shortly. The electricity rates are to be increased, also.

John Berry of 237 South Orange, who was very low with pneumonia when his grandmother, Mrs. J. H. Berry, died of the same disease about three weeks ago and whose recovery was considered very doubtful then, is now gradually improving and is considered out of danger.

Members of the Francy family who have been suffering from influenza and more serious diseases which followed in its train, are now recovered. Victor is up and around, Wilbur is back at his window in the First National Bank, and Louis B. Nunn of the Southern California Gas Company is back at his work after quite a serious time with pneumonia.

C. H. Weihe and wife of 1010 E. Acacia have completed a garage which they expect to occupy as a temporary residence until they can build a home, having sold their present one. They have been delayed in their building operations by influenza, Mrs. Weihe and the two children being down with it, all at the same time. They are able to be up now.

Mrs. Gertrude Frankenstein of 618 North Columbus expects to be released Friday from a quarantine which has lasted about three weeks, during which her two sons, Albert and Fred, were very seriously ill of influenza, and under the care of a trained nurse except for ten days when she was alone with them unable to get assistance. She is thankful to have the siege over.

Architect A. G. Lindley is preparing working plans for a new Methodist church to be erected at once in Calexico. It will have two stories and a basement and will contain an auditorium to seat 600 people, Sunday school department and class rooms, social rooms, kitchen department and offices. The estimated cost is $50,000. Mr. Lindley has also completed plans for a new seven-room residence for the M. E. minister at Burbank.

Mrs. Franklin L. Ford of 614 N. Brand Boulevard is greatly enjoying a visit with her parents and house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell of Pittsburg, Pa., who came West especially to see their granddaughter, Nellie Jane Ford, born January 22. They are planning to return in about a month. They like the country exceedingly and say it is not unlikely that in the course of a few years they will come back to make their home here.

Rev. C. A. Cole was in Los Angeles yesterday attending the monthly meeting of the Christian Ministerial Association. The main topic for discussion was the new Christian College to be located next to the state university on North Vermont Avenue, and which it is hoped to have ready for opening next September. Dr. Burr Jones of Indiana is here to conduct a stirring whirlwind campaign for the necessary $850,000, of which almost $500,000 has already been pledged.

Mrs. Helen Frazer of 633 North Maryland who dropped her china painting to assist her son in his toy manufacturing business has resumed her own professional work again. She says it is a little easier to get china now than it was during the war because some of the Nippon china is coming in from Japan, although the Japanese have not awakened to the market for plain china and seldom export any that has not been decorated. French china is also beginning to come in, but dealers report that the imports are not likely to be heavy for some time to come because the output of French factories are being restricted by the high cost of fuel.

Monday was a day of peculiar sadness for Rev. James O'Neill, pastor of the Holy Family Catholic church, and for his brother, Charles O'Neill, because it was the day on which their mother, Anna O'Neill, was laid in her last resting place in a Boston cemetery. She was 73 years of age, was a native of Boston and born of Irish parents. Her maiden name, McDonough, was a source of special pride to her and to her sons and daughters because her great grand uncle, Commodore McDonough, was one of the heroes of the American Revolution. Running away from his home in Ireland as a boy, he came to this country and enlisted in the American navy. He participated in the sea battles of the Revolution and for his bravery and distinguished services was made a Commodore.

FROM WINDY CITY

CAPTAIN CHARLES O'NEIL OF CHICAGO FIRE DEPT., COMES TO GLENDALE

Mr. and Mrs. Boothby, who have an attractive home in the 300 block on Lexington Drive, have leased it to Captain Charles W. O'Neil, who for forty years was a fireman in Chicago and was Superintendent of the Fire Insurance Patrol of the big city when he handed in his resignation and decided to come to Southern California to live. He it was who received the raw recruits taken into the service and patiently broke them into harness. When he quit every man felt he had lost a personal friend, and Fire Chief Thos. O'Connor declared that Captain O'Neil's resignation was a great loss to the Chicago Board of Underwriters.

In the years that he served in the Windy City there was never a spectacular fire at which he was not on duty and he was the first to crawl into the house of death at the awful Iroquois theatre tragedy and attempt to find the few living from among the mass of dead.

Before entering the service as a young man he was a member of the resident stock company which gave theatrical performances in the old Academy of Music on Madison and Halsted streets and was in the cast of such old timers as "The Two Orphans," "East Lynne" and "Uncle Tom's Cabin." There were usually visiting stars—Joe Murphy, John McCulloch, Lawrence Barrett, Clara Morris, and others whose names rank high in the records of histrionic art. Later he was on the vaudeville stage for a time.

Captain O'Neil invented a cellar pipe and water tower that is a vital part of every fire truck in use today. He took out no patents on it and, as he says, all he ever got out of it was an annual Christmas remembrance.

The Captain is very much delighted with Glendale and will perhaps realize here his ambitions to become a real country squire with a garden, chickens and possibly a goat.

NEWS FROM MISS FRANK

EXHIBITION OF HER FATHER'S PICTURES BIG SOCIAL EVENT IN DALLAS

Mrs. Harriet Frank of 1558 Eagle Rock Road has received most interesting letters and newspaper clippings from her daughter, Miss Alice Frank, who is in Dallas, Texas, where an exhibition of the collection of paintings of her father, Eugene Frank, opened February 24 in Bush Temple, that city. It was a big society event given under the auspices of the leading club of the city, the Women's Forum, with accompanying musical and literary programs put on by the sections of the club. A beautiful setting had been provided by the decoration of the hall and corridor with palms and with handsome furnishings in the way of rugs and other suitable accessories. Not less than six hundred persons visited the exhibition during the opening day and the temple was thronged on subsequent occasions. Miss Angapaugh, an art instructor, gave each day an art talk in which she mentioned the fine points in the pictures likely to be overlooked by the public and made it a most interesting occasion for the instruction of art students.

At the opening of the program on February 24, Miss Frank was introduced to the large audience assembled and made a little talk about the pictures, her father, and her home in Southern California in which women's clubs fill so large and influential a place in social life. She concluded her address by presenting to the Women's Forum one of her father's pictures, a Dutch landscape, which was received with a burst of applause and at the conclusion of the talk friends and reporters showered her with greetings and congratulations. She seems to have made a great hit with the Dallas people and hardly finds hours enough in the day to accept the social courtesies of which she is the recipient. She writes that Dallas people "are wild about the pictures," and it is probable that many canvasses will be sold.

"GHOSTS" LEAVE HONEY IN ROOF OF HOUSE

GRANVILLE, Ill., March 2.—(United Press).—Bees played "haunts" to George F. Treudt here recently, but George didn't mind it—when he found they had produced several hundred pounds of honey during their spooky evening sestas.

For more than a year Treudt and his family had been annoyed by a peculiar buzzing sound coming apparently from the roof of his house. For a time he blamed the noises on electric wires, but neighbors held to the belief the house was haunted.

Finally when Treudt made a search in the garret, he found the house had many, many more inhabitants than he had imagined. The bees had been at work for months.

The 100,000 of the race in America sent 30,000 men to the colors. The speaker advocated the passage of the Williams bill, now before Congress, authorizing the President to use the military and naval power of the United States to protect Armenia from its foes. He said no conscription would be necessary to raise a sufficient force for this purpose, as the Armenians scattered about among the nations of the earth would rally as one man in such a cause, particularly those in America.

The address occupied more than an hour and was deeply interesting to all who heard it. This was the last meeting of the drive which is to be completed in Glendale today and tomorrow.

URGES LAW AGAINST CARRYING CONCEALED WEAPONS

LOS ANGELES, March 2.—Mayor M. P. Synder is urging a state law which would prohibit the carrying of concealed weapons by other than authorized peace officers.

"I will vigorously support any person seeking to get a state law of this nature passed," remarked the city executive in commenting on the proposed measure designed to stop the sale of firearms in California.

"When thugs can always go to country stores and buy the weapons they want, it is almost useless to enact ordinances in cities prohibiting the sale of firearms," he said. "Proper showing of unfitness should be sufficient to enable the authorities to revoke the permits of persons owning shotguns, rifles, revolvers and other weapons."

pointment as Junior Engineer in the office of the United States Engineer in Los Angeles, they decided to have the wedding take place at once.

Since Lieutenant Imler returned from the army he has been employed in Marshfield, Ore., by the Ostlund Contracting Company as assistant engineer on mill construction, and also by the Western Lumber Company as assistant manager in their veneer plant.

E. G. Flanagan, father of the bride is a banker, also a cattleman and owner of a controlling interest in the Union Meat Company. He is regarded as one of the leading capitalists in that part of the state and an influential man.

Lieut. and Mrs. Imler are now at Palm Villa, where they will make their home for the present. It will be a very convenient location, as the lieutenant's offices will be in the Central Building at the corner of Sixth and Main streets, Los Angeles.

Lieut. Imler, it will be remembered, was graduated from the Throop College of Technology in Pasadena. His bride attend St. Mary's Academy in Portland, Ore. She is a talented musician and was very active in the Red Cross and in other war work, particularly in the diversions provided for the entertainment of soldiers in the Spruce Division Camp in Marshfield.

cents a pound and as much more as the market calls for. He is to be the general manager of the acreage, making frequent trips down there while retaining his residence in Glendale. He has already made 13 trips to the valley, investigating the ranch afterward acquired. His long experience in farming and melon raising in Rocky Ford vicinity qualifies him for the position. Mr. Clem will move to Coachella and superintend the work of clearing, drilling the well, laying irrigation pipes and putting in the crop. Mr. Babcock sees a wonderful future ahead for Coachella Valley, which has 100,000 acres of tillable land when supplied with irrigation facilities, 40,000 of these acres being free from alkali. Coachella, the leading town, though of only 500 population, has three banks and many fine business houses, an up-to-date high school building and a date factory, where this fruit is washed, sorted and packed in boxes for shipping, or pitted and stuffed. Mr. Babcock says T. D. Ogg has been working a hundred men a day for a week or more, getting his acreage clear of sage brush and ready for cultivation.

FRENCH DUELING IS DEAD; H. C. L. AND WAR KILLED IT

BY HENRY WOOD

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
PARIS, Feb. 15.—(By Mail).—Paris dueling is definitely dead.

That is the consensus of both the French press and the French public following the few sporadic attempts that have taken place since the armistice to revive what was formerly the most picturesque and the most harmless of Parisian sports.

Two causes are conceded to be largely responsible for the untimely demise of these "affairs of honor," namely, the war and the high cost of living.

During the five years of the war the French public became too accustomed to seeing hundreds and thousands of men killed and mutilated to be able to stir up any enthusiasm or interest in a mere skin scratch sustained in a duel.

Secondly, the high cost of living and the depreciated value of currency and fixed fortunes generally has rendered it entirely too expensive in an argument in which the honor of one or the other of them becomes jolted, the latter says to the former:

"You're a bloody, bow-legged, knock-kneed spindle-shanked war-profitteer," or words to that effect.

"You're vulgar nouveau riche," replies the aggressor.

"Consider yourself slapped in the face," replies the aggressed.

Thereupon, there being absolutely no deeper limit of either insult or injury to which the two can sink, they either turn their backs on each other and walk away, or else shake hands and are reconciled on the spot.

Before the war, of course, the two having got to the point where they had constructively slapped each other's face, seconds were called in, efforts made at reconciliation which always failed, and then with great form and pomp, every one clad in high silk hats, Prince Albert coats and chrysanthemums in the button-hole, the whole lot repaired to the ferris wheel on the Champ de Mars and proceeded to have each other's gore.

Before the gore stage was reached, however, press photographers took photographs of the two would-be slayers with arms in their hands, the society reporters took down the names of the brilliant gathering of aristocracy and nobility gathered in the offing, and then the two fighters went for each other until one or the other got accidentally, intentionally or purposely scratched.

Thereupon, physicians who had been held in the leash were turned loose. They dashed madly up, ascertained that blood was actually showing through the skin and then in order to prevent any further useless shedding of blood—or shedding of "useless blood"—according to the point of view, the whole affair was reluctantly terminated.

U. S. METHODS URGED BY WORLD RED CROSS

GENEVA, March 2.—(United Press).—American ideals put into practice promised to feature discussions today at the opening of the first meeting of the general council of the League of Red Cross Societies here.

Pointing to the membership record of the Red Cross, held by the United States, delegates were almost unanimous in asserting methods used by American leaders in enrolling 26 per cent of the population of the United States as members of the Red Cross will be adopted by societies in other countries when the peacetime program has been decided on.

Henry P. Davidson, head of the American Red Cross and chairman of the league, was to preside at the meetings during the eight-day session. Thirty nations were to be represented.

In addition to the election of five additional governors, the main business to come up at the league meeting one of the first and most important meetings to be held at the capital of the league of nations, will likely be plans for the improvement of public health and prevention of disease throughout the world.

Methods of practical application of the principles of the convention at Cannes last April, when leading scientists of various countries were convoked to study the general plan for co-ordinating the work of the individual Red Cross societies, likely will be worked out.

ANOTHER ADRIATIC NOTE

PRESIDENT WILSON DRAFTS ONE TO FRENCH AND BRITISH PREMIERS TO BE DISPATCHED TOMORROW

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, March 2.—President Wilson has completed his latest note to British and French premiers on the Adriatic situation, it was learned at the White House today. It remains now for the State Department to put the communication into diplomatic language, submit it to the president for final approval and place it on the cables. It is not expected that the note will go forward until tomorrow night.

1920 COMMEMORATIVE STAMPS

"It is understood a bill has been introduced in Congress which would authorize the issuing of a series of stamps to commemorate the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims on the shores of Massachusetts in 1620," says Kent B. Stiles, Stamp Editor of Boys' Life, in the February issue of that magazine. "Collectors would of course look with much favor upon such an addition to our country's philatelic history and would prefer a short series, perhaps in denominations of one, two, three, five and ten cents, rather than the inclusion of such high values as fifty cents and one dollar. It is to be hoped that Congress will act affirmatively on this measure.

"If the bill is passed and stamps are to be issued those who select the designs should give thought to the Provincetown monument. This shaft, standing on the highest bit of land of Cape Cod, the right arm of Massachusetts, was erected in honor of the coming of the Pilgrims to Provincetown before they finally went ashore permanently at Plymouth. Theodore Roosevelt officiated when the cornerstone was placed and William Howard Taft when the monument was dedicated, each being President at the time. Surely no scene in America, unless it is that of Plymouth Rock itself, is more worthy of a place on a stamp series of the character contemplated.

"Other designs which have been suggested unofficially include the good ship Mayflower, on which the Pilgrims crossed the sea to reach their new land of liberty; the signing of the Compact, the document representative of the birth of democracy in the western world; the departure of the Pilgrims from European shores; and a portrait of William Bradford.

"Here is an opportunity for the issuing of a series of great historical significance, and every stamp paper and every collector in the United States should urge that fact upon the legislative and postal authorities at Washington."

A woman in Corona publishes a notice that she will not be responsible for any debts contracted by her husband, and her husband publishes a notice that he will not pay any debts contracted by his wife. After careful comparison and study of these two asseverations, we have the glimmering of a suspicion which we trust is not too hasty or ill-formed, that they do not intend to pay each other's debts.
